THIS handbook is devoted exclusively to recreation facilities provided to the citizens of Los Angeles by the City Recreation and Parks Department; however, there are other facilities—in addition to commercial ones—available.

Many community agencies offer a variety of services, both to the total public and to specific groups. The County Department of Parks and Recreation has a number of well-equipped facilities adjacent to the Los Angeles City limits which are used extensively by City residents. The Board of Education's school playgrounds are operated as a separate entity and also provide additional recreational services. There is excellent cooperation between governmental and community organizations.

Revised October, 1971

THE RECREATION AND PARK SYSTEM

City of Los Angeles

All municipally owned and operated recreation and park facilities are managed by the City's Department of Recreation and Parks. Until the City Charter was amended in 1947, Los Angeles had a Department of Parks—established in 1889—and a Department of Play-ground and Recreation, established in 1904.

The City Charter provides an annual allocation of 13 cents out of each one hundred dollars of assessed valuation to the Recreation and Parks Department. Because this amount is insufficient to support the Department, it is supplemented by annual appropriations granted by the Mayor and City Council. In addition, approximately 27 percent of the Department's yearly budget is derived from revenues such as golf fees, concessions, self-sustaining classes, oil, parking lots, etc.

The Department is controlled by the Board of Recreation and Park Commissioners—five citizens appointed by the Mayor, confirmed by the City Council. Commissioners serve without pay but receive a $10 per meeting fee for expenses. The Board of Commissioners sets policy, establishes fees and approves license agreements for concessions. Any contract for more than three years must be submitted to the City Council for approval.

The General Manager, who administers the Department, is responsible directly to the Board of Commissioners, and the Executive Officer assists him in the over-all operation of the Department.

The Administrative Branch, under the jurisdiction of the Chief, Administrative Services, is responsible for Budget and Business Operations—such as concessions—and general office services.

The Superintendent of Recreation is responsible for all phases of the recreation program; and the Superintendent of Parks is in charge of maintenance, repairs, and similar Departmental activities.

The Zoo, Observatory, Convention Center and Golf Division—including golf maintenance and golf operations—report directly to the Executive Officer and are separate entities.

Approximately 2,000 year-round and more than 900 seasonal employees are required to provide recreation and park services for the citizens of Los Angeles.

In addition to recreation directors to provide leadership, horticulturists, skilled and semiskilled employees to maintain grounds, golf course greens, swimming pools, etc.; and electricians, plumbers, carpenters and other craftsmen to repair and preserve structures, there must be employees to help plan and schedule work so that adequate service can be provided at each of the more than 210 facilities operated by the Department in the 468 square mile city.

A Personnel Division staffed by experts is necessary to assist the Board of Commissioners and administrative staff in establishing and maintaining sound personnel practices; keeping adequate vacation and sick leave records as well as other vital statistics; and protecting the rights of employees and the City of Los Angeles.

There must be accountants to prepare budgets, keep track of revenues received, maintain accurate records to assure that funds are properly expended, and provide related services.

The land and business operations sections are necessary to supervise private concessions awarded on a competitive bidding basis to be sure that an adequate standard of service is maintained; to keep an accurate record of real estate owned by the Department; and to cooperate with other governmental agencies in the conduct of the City's business.

A public relations office is necessary to provide information to the public through a variety of methods; to advise with staff and administrators on methods of interpreting Department activities to other governmental agencies and the taxpayer; and to perform a variety of "trouble-shooting" functions.

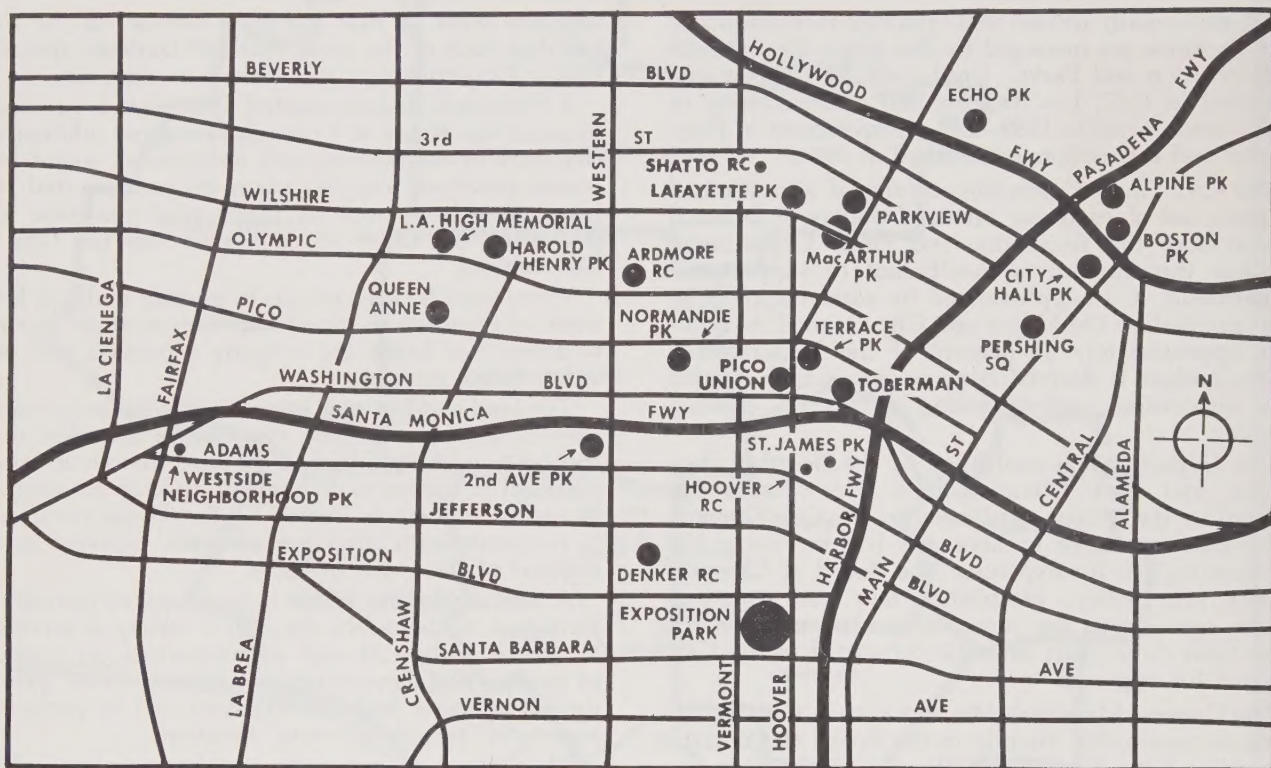

There must, of course, be an administrative staff to aid the Board of Commissioners, the General Manager, and the Executive Officer in coordinating all of the activities, planning for future development and supervising the entire Department. There is a new Management Systems Division. The Recreation and Park Development Division was created to provide a cohesive approach to development in areas of financing, real estate and land acquisition and social and community planning.

Providing recreation is the basic function of the Department. Because Los Angeles City is comprised of many communities with varying recreational needs, the City has been divided into five areas. Four of the areas have two districts each and the fifth (the San Fernando Valley) has three districts.

An area supervisor is in charge of each of the five areas and a district director—who reports to an area supervisor—is responsible for each of the 11 districts. This decentralization permits maximum service to the communities, based on the needs of each.

Maps of each district, followed by a listing of the parks and recreation centers within that district, can be found on Pages 4 through 25.

BEACHES

Approximately 13 miles of beaches are operated by the Los Angeles City Recreation and Parks Department and extend from the City limits north of Pacific Palisades to Cabrillo Beach in San Pedro.

Following are the municipal beaches; all open and staffed year-round:

Will Rogers Beach State Park,

15100 Pacific Coast Highway, Pacific Palisades. Extends north three miles from the Santa Monica city limits to a point near Topanga Canyon. The beach has a large, popular surfing area.

Venice Beach,

2100 Ocean Front Walk, Venice. Extends from the Santa Monica city limits south to Marina del Rey. Six acres have been developed into a park with picnic areas, shuffleboard courts and the Venice Beach Pavilion. The huge Venice Fishing Pier is located at the facility and an area has been set aside for surfing.

Isidore B. Dockweiler Beach State Park,

11401 Vista del Mar Avenue. Formerly known as Playa del Rey, the beach extends from Marina del Rey south of the City of El Segundo. The beach has a number of parking lots, 700 fire pits and a surfing area.

Cabrillo Beach,

3720 Stephen White Drive, San Pedro. Located at the northern end of Los Angeles Harbor, the beach has picnic areas, fire pits and a section for surfing and a recently constructed fishing pier.

REGIONAL PARKS

Many large, beautiful parks are located within the City's boundaries and are operated and maintained by the Los Angeles City Recreation and Parks Department.

GRIFFITH PARK

This 4,063 acre natural area is the largest city-owned and operated park in the world. This facility houses 5 golf courses, 16 tennis courts, numerous picnic and sports areas and miles of riding and hiking trails. In addition, the park contains the following cultural attractions:

Griffith Observatory:

The world-famous Griffith Observatory houses a 500-seat air-conditioned planetarium theater, the Hall of Science and a twin refracting telescope. The observatory is open daily, except Mondays, from September to June, and seven days a week during the summer months.

Astronomical shows in the planetarium theater are illustrated by the giant Zeiss planetarium projector which recreates the skies, stars, planets and other objects in the universe on the facility's 75-foot domed ceiling.

Exhibits demonstrating basic physics laws and scientific equipment, and displays of meteorites, geological and metallurgical specimens are in the Hall of Science.

A twin refracting telescope with 12-inch and 9½-inch lenses is available for public use on clear evenings from dusk until 10 p.m. when the Observatory is open. For additional information, call 664-1192.

Los Angeles Zoo:

The zoological facility includes a complete Children's Zoo and an 80-acre main zoo, a 28-acre parking area, food and refreshment stands. The larger zoo is divided into continental areas with all animals indigenous to a particular continent exhibited together. Rare animals, reptiles and birds from all parts of the world have been acquired, and a constant effort is made to improve and expand the quality and content of the fine collection. The Zoo is open every day except Christmas. For additional information, call 666-4650.

Ferndell Ranger Station:

Nature and outdoor films are scheduled each weekend afternoon. In addition, the Station is an educational center offering many exhibits of plant and animal life, wildlife lectures and guided nature study tours through Griffith Park. Open Wednesdays through Sundays.

Greek Theater:

The outdoor amphitheater has a seating capacity of 4,500 and is leased by the City for presentations of concerts, light operas and other cultural entertainment programs.

Travel Town:

This unique vehicular museum has on display a great variety of ancient and modern types of transportation equipment. Exhibits include locomotives, automobiles, airplanes, fire engines, cable cars and streetcars. Open daily except Christmas.

Other regional parks within the City are:

SEPULVEDA DAM RECREATION AREA

Approximately 1,641 acres of 2,000-acre Sepulveda Dam basin is leased by the City from the Federal government.

Presently available at the facility are two 18-hole golf courses, an 80-acre major sports field with baseball diamonds, lighted tennis courts, an outdoor gym with basketball, volleyball and handball courts, children's play areas, parking facilities and a 20-acre picnic area.

HANSEN DAM RECREATION AREA

The 1,437-acre flood control basin is leased by the City from the Federal government on a long-term basis for recreational purposes. The huge lake has areas for swimming, boating, sailing, canoeing and fishing. Several large picnic areas, firepits and parking lots are located on the shores surrounding the lake.

A nine-hole, 36-par golf course with food service, golf professional and free parking lot is located off Glenoaks Boulevard in the recreational area. A clubhouse is under construction at the site.

The Orcas picnic area of the flood control basin has been developed and includes additional picnic areas, parking lots, children's play areas, a softball field, barbecue facilities, and an out-door amphitheater.

ELYSIAN PARK:

Splendid stands of evergreen trees, beautiful vistas, forested hills and green valleys mark Elysian Park, only minutes from Civic Center. Recreational facilities, picnic areas and hiking trails are among the major attractions at the park.

HARBOR PARK:

Formerly known as Bixby Slough. This facility has been developed for canoeing, sailing and picnicking. A 9-hole golf course is also located at Harbor Park.

PARK LAKES

Eight of the parks operated by the City Recreation and Parks Department have park lakes. Boating is allowed at most and fishing programs for youngsters are offered at Hansen Dam and Lincoln Park. For additional information, contact the Teen and Special Programs Division at 380-3807.

MUSEUM AND CULTURAL CENTER

Cabrillo Beach Marine Museum:

This unusual museum is filled with exhibits of marine and shore plant and animal life. The Mariner's Exhibit, on the second floor, includes ship models ranging from ancient Chinese junks, Vikings' ships and Indian canoes to modern whaling vessels. An exact replica of a sailing ship's captain's cabin, maps, seafaring gear and other items are also displayed.

Exposition Park Rose Garden:

The seven-acre sunken rose garden is the largest of its kind in the nation. Thousands of bushes showing more than 160 varieties of roses are found in the garden.

CULTURAL AFFAIRS DIVISION

Cultural arts programs are conducted at a majority of the Department's facilities. They include drama, choral singing, ballet, crafts, modern and folk dancing and theater workshops. In addition, there are 5 facilities used exclusively for cultural arts activities:

Cultural Arts Center:

3224 Riverside Dr. Cultural arts classes and programs for children, teenagers and adults are held at the facility. Schedule of activities includes drama, choral singing, ballet, modern and folk dancing and theater workshops.

Barnsdall Arts and Crafts Center:

Active participation in cultural hobbies for persons of all ages is encouraged at the facility. Instruction is offered in painting, drawing, sculpturing, ceramics and other arts and crafts. Students' items are often exhibited at the center.

McGroarty Cultural Center:

Instruction in ballet, modern and creative dancing, drama, painting, drawing, and a number of crafts is offered persons of all ages.

Parkview Photography Center:

Lectures, demonstrations, competitions and shooting sessions are scheduled for amateur photographers. Photography equipment, lights and darkrooms are also provided at the center.

Handicraft Training Center:

2500 Whittier Boulevard. The Handicraft Training Center is a craft center for directors of cultural arts and community recreation centers. Here, inservice sessions are conducted for the benefit of all directors and preparations are made for many special activities held at community recreation centers. The Cultural Arts Division also operates Friendship Auditorium; and the Campo de Cahuenga; and the Costume Workshop.

For additional information, contact the Department's Cultural Affairs Division at 380-3807.

GOLF

Thirteen golf courses, located in all areas of the City, are operated by the Los Angeles City Recreation and Parks Department. This is a greater number than is operated by any other city in the United States and includes five regulation 18-hole; four regulation 9-hole; three 9-hole, three-par; and one 18-hole, three-par.

A golf manager is in charge of the entire division and course managers and starters are responsible for each facility. Golf professionals operate pro shops and service concessions at Griffith Park, Rancho Park, and Sepulveda and Hansen dams.

HISTORIC SITES

Campo de Cahuenga:

The historic monument is site of the signing of the Treaty of Cahuenga, in January, 1847. The document was instrumental in ending the conflict over the southwest territory between the United States and Mexico. Annual observance of the treaty signing is held each January at the facility.

Lummis El Alisal Home:

The residence of Los Angeles pioneer and writer Charles F. Lummis houses his library and extensive Hispanic and Indian studies. A vast collection of Mayan and American Indian tribal artifacts and early California furnishings is exhibited at the home.

Phineas Banning Home:

The beautiful residence of the Banning family, pioneers in the development of the Wilmington-San Pedro area, is open for public tours each Sunday from April to October. Attractions include many rooms of early California furniture and household items and a 100-year-old wisteria vine which blooms profusely each spring.

Plaza Park:

The small park marks the site of the original 28-acre Spanish pueblo which grew into the City of Los Angeles. A picturesque kiosk and topiary sculptures are located in the Plaza area. The entire section is now being developed into the Pueblo de Los Angeles State Historical Monument. Historical features in the area include Olvera Street, the old Pico House, the Avila Adobe and the Mission Plaza Church.

Bolton Hall, Little Landers Park, 10116 Commerce Avenue

Built of native stone by master mason George Harris in 1913 for use as a community center, later sold to the City of Tujunga about 1927-8 for use as a City Hall and represents one of very few stone buildings extant of this period.

Shadow Ranch, 22633 Vanowen Street

Original ranch 13,000 acres. Eucalyptus trees brought from Australia planted in the early 1870's and said to be parent trees for all Southern California House built 1869-1872 by Albert Workman.

Barnsdall Park

This land was originally the residence of Aline Barnsdall who commissioned architect Frank Lloyd Wright to design her home, called the Hollyhock House, on the crown of the hill.

The facility now includes a Municipal Art Gallery, an Arts and Crafts Center, a Junior Arts Center, and the Hollyhock House, and has become a major cultural center in the City of Los Angeles.

Eagle Rock City Hall

This three-level, Spanish, tile-roofed building was constructed in 1922, eleven years after Eagle Rock was incorporated as a city. In 1923, Eagle Rock became part of the City of Los Angeles and the building became the first of the city halls to be acquired by Los Angeles through annexation.

McGroarty Park

Home of John Steven McGroarty, Poet Laureate of the State of California from 1933 until his death in 1944. This two-story residence in Tujunga is filled with memorabilia of this eminent poet, historian, dramatist, journalist and United States Congressman. The facility is now maintained by the Department's Cultural Arts Division and used for craft classes, historical and authors groups, musicales and reception activities.

Andreas Pico Adobe Home

This building served the purposes of the San Fernando Mission. Later, when enlarged, it became the home of Romulo Pico. It is a two-story adobe brick building set on a fieldstone foundation and restored in 1930. It was purchased by the Department of Recreation and Parks that same year.

CAMPS AND MOUNTAIN FACILITIES

Five mountain facilities and three camps for youngsters are maintained and operated by the Los Angeles City Recreation and Parks Department. For information on fees, rental rates and reservations, contact the Camping Division, 3191 W. Fourth St., Los Angeles 90005; 380-3807.

Camp Radford

Located in San Bernardino National Forest 90 miles from Los Angeles, the camp accommodates 330. Open only to organized groups from May through September, facilities include sleeping cabins, dining room, kitchen, swimming pool, tennis courts, ball diamond and play areas.

Camp Seely

The facility is open year round, to organized groups. Located in the San Bernardino Mountains 70 miles from Los Angeles, the camp accommodates 257. Facilities include a large dining room, kitchen, swimming pool, sleeping cabins and outdoor recreational facilities.

Camp Valcrest

Located 45 miles from Los Angeles on Highway #2, the camp is available to organized groups only and may be reserved for week-long sessions from June to September; and for weekend outings during the fall, winter and spring months. The facility accommodates up to 129 and has a large kitchen, dining room, cabins, crafts building and swimming pool.

Crowley Lake

The famous fishing center is located in the Eastern High Sierras near Camp High Sierra. The huge reservoir was built by the Department of Water and Power and is stocked with Tahoe Blackspots, Brown, Kamloops and Eastern Brook Trout by the California State Department of Fish and Game. The annual fishing season is from May through July 31. City-owned motorboats, boats without motors and docking space for private boats are available for rental. The lake is open for water skiing each year from August 1 to Labor Day.

Camp High Sierra

Located 320 miles north of Los Angeles in the Mammoth Lakes area. Open only from June to September. This facility contains 40 campsites for self-contained camping units. However, water hookups, lights and hot showers are available. A limited number of cabins are also available.

Decker Canyon Youth Camp

Located in the Santa Monica Mountains near Malibu, the 38-acre facility is available to organized youth groups for primitive-type outings. The camp accommodates up to 125 and includes facilities for cooking, food storage and sleeping areas. Varied recreational activities are available.

Griffith Park Boys Camp

The camp is located in a rustic, rugged area of Griffith Park. Camp sessions for boys 8 through 12 years of age are held weekends during school months, with longer sessions scheduled for Easter and Christmas vacations and the summer months. A variety of activities is planned under the supervision of trained counselors and directors. Reservations may be made by groups or on an individual basis.

Hollywoodland Girls Camp

Weekend outings and longer sessions during Easter and Christmas vacations and the summer months are held for girls 8 through 14. Located in the picturesque canyons of Griffith Park, the camp offers a full schedule of activities. Reservations may be made by groups or on an individual basis.

SENIOR CITIZENS

Ten centers specifically for senior citizens are located in areas of the City where most needed to serve the greatest number of older residents. In addition, senior citizens clubs hold meetings and special events at more than 75 other facilities operated by the City Recreation and Parks Department.

Active and extensive recreation, social and service programs are conducted at the centers by senior citizens groups with assistance from staff of the Department.

Year-round schedules of events include sightseeing excursions, picnics, social hours, shuffleboard tournaments, conferences and many service projects. Groups also hold leadership sessions and programs to encourage members to use their time, talents and experience to contribute to civic activities in their respective communities.

Special facilities to accommodate senior citizens are located at the centers. These include bowling greens, roque and bocci courts, shuffleboard courts, game rooms, arts and crafts workshops and meeting areas.

For additional information regarding senior citizen activities, contact the Senior Citizen Section, 380-3807.

CONVENTION CENTER

Flexibility and convenience were the primary consideration in the design of the Los Angeles Convention and Exhibition Center, which is operated by the Department. The comfort and convenience of the conventioneer, exhibitor and visitor dominated every phase of the construction.

The functional two-story building, located at 1201 South Figueroa St., adjacent to the Harbor Freeway and close to downtown Los Angeles, can accommodate a convention of 15,000 people or a committee meeting of 10 people.

Food and beverage concession stands, a gourmet restaurant, cafeteria, and a cocktail lounge are included in the structure.

The main exhibit assembly hall is the size of approximately three football fields placed side by side.

This massive area provides 213,248 square feet, which can accommodate 1,075 exhibit booths. The main exhibit hall is named Yorty Hall. An adjacent 20,400 square foot assembly hall, named Petree Hall, handles an additional 125 booths or 3,500 people seated.

On the upper level, 22 meeting rooms provide 42,000 square feet of meeting space for groups numbering 35 to 4500 people.

There are 3,000 parking spaces at ground level and beneath the building, with 1,000 more in an adjacent parking garage.
